INTRODUCTION

OVERVIEW

Safe N' Happy Periods (SNHP) is a non-profit working towards creating shame-free, pain-free & joyful periods for girls and women through a combined approach of workshops, awareness campaigns, and pad donation drives.

SNHP is a flagship project of AMODINI Foundation, a registered trust under Mumbai Public Trust 1960 having 80G under Income Tax Act.

The primary focus is girls aged 10-18 years old through school. To date, SNHP has created positive shift in the lives of over 25,000 Girls/ Women & Men with our Menstrual Hygiene Management (MHM) education and reached over 5,000 girls with MHM products. As a social enterprise, SNHP has the unique benefit of being registered as a Trust whose raison d'être is to serve the common good, give platforms to girls/women to share their PERIOD concerns, collectively working out solutions in the present context and giving dignity to PERIODS. Due to this classification, Supreme is a donor-supported and volunteer supported organization.

FACILITATORS

PROFILE OF FACILITATORS

SARIKA GUPTA is the Founder and facilitator at Safe N' Happy Periods (SNHP). SNHP is a flagship project of AMODINI Foundation, which Sarika founded with two of her friends in 2016.

She has been actively engaged in social projects and interacted with more than 25,000 girls & women to create awareness of menstrual education in parts of India and Africa. She is currently working in 12 villages around Katarkhadak village, Pune, on Menstrual Health and Hygiene Management. She also works with children and Corporations on topics like Gratitude and self-love to enjoy a meaningful and joyful life.

Sarika also serves as Co-Founder and Trustee at AEGIS Knowledge Trust, Mumbai. She has previously served as Head of training at IIM Indore and worked at Indian Express Newspapers (B) Ltd. She is also a certified POSH Trainer.

PRITI SHUKLA is a Past Life Regression (PLR) Coach and a Trainer. She has worked with children in several schools in the USA and is now currently guiding children in Rishi Gurukulam, Pune. She does Corporate Training in Health, Wealth, and Relationships (specializing in Marriage and couple areas).

CONTEXT, CHALLENGE & SOLUTION

CONTEXT

As natural of an occurrence as menstruation is for half of the world's population, it is estimated that each year, many girls miss school due to their cycle, or withdraw from school altogether. The lack of access to sanitary pads adds to the burden. Furthermore, global research and our own research have documented menstruating girls' experiences of shame, fear, and confusion. The challenges girls face attempting to manage their menstruation with insufficient information on their bodies, a lack of social support, and ongoing social and hygiene taboos leads to a vicious cycle.

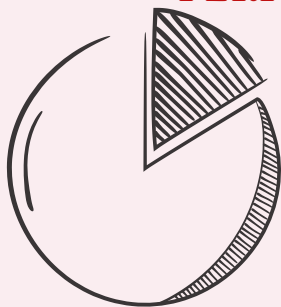

CHALLENGE

To combat the issues stemming from lack of education on menstrual hygiene management (MHM) and cultural norms, SMHP has created a comprehensive workshop module for which often the school teachers are not also trained.

SOLUTION

Our In House team has developed a MHM curriculum to be imparted as workshop/information sessions with girls, boys, men, and women. The program also has a provision to provide consistent menstruation support for women and girls through online and in-person meet.

METHODOLOGY

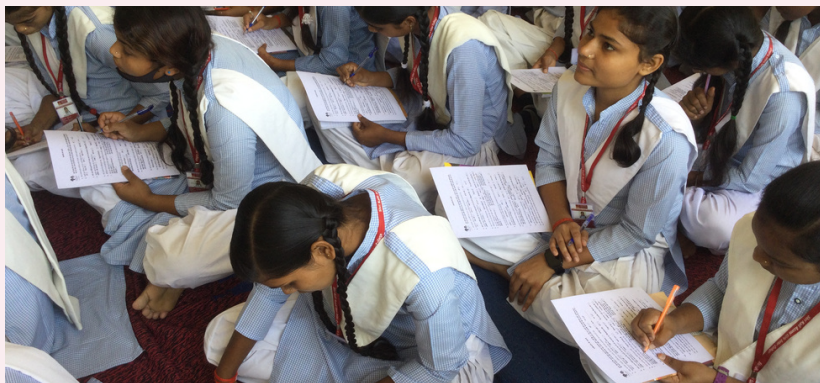

METHODOLOGY

INTERACTIVE SESSIONS/ WORKSHOP: The Sessions were delivered through Audio-Visual PPT's, Short Videos, Interaction within students, Sharings, Q&A's. The methodology was designed keeping in mind the sensitivity of the subject and the socio-economic background of girls.

TIME DURATION: Each workshop took 2-2.5 hours and were highly interactive.

Through the workshops we engaged with the girls and female school teachers on the following issues faced generally in Periods:

- PAIN & SUFFERING (CRAMPS)
- RANGE OF MENSTRUAL DISORDERS
- EXCESSIVE BLEEDING & ANAEMIA
- FOOD HABITS & LIFESTYLE
- MENSTRUAL HYGIENE PRACTISES
- PRE-MENSTRUAL SYNDROME (PMS)
- SHAME & SHYNESS
- EMOTIONAL DISTURBANCES (ANXIETY, CRYING, FEELING LOW DEPRESSED, etc.)

METHODOLOGY

PRIME FOCUS - PAIN MANAGEMENT THROUGH VARIOUS YOGA POSES

The most important part of the Session were few Yoga-Asanas that were demonstrated and being taught to the girls and female school teachers. The Asanas taught are Supta Badha-Konasana, Upvishta Konasana, and Supta Swastika Asana.

METHODOLOGY

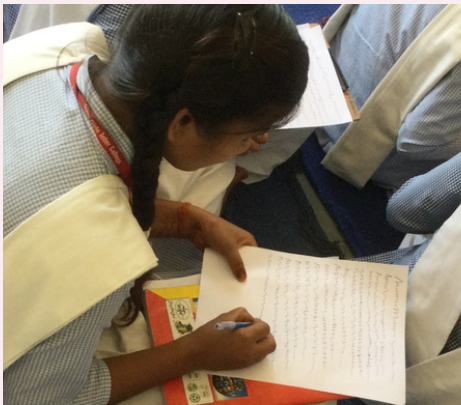

TOOLS TAUGHT FOR DEEPER EMOTIONAL RELEASE

Periods often brings along a deep and lasting impressions on the young hearts, memories that bring negativity. In order to release those memories and feel free and liberated, we took the girls and teachers through the following:

1) TOOL - CATHARSIS

The students were asked to release all their negative memories, emotions like fear, anxiety, shame, guilt, resentment and other emotions which do not serve them positively. The focus was on Periods, but the process helped them to release their other unwanted emotions and memories and helped them feel the lightness.

The students and teachers experienced the CATHARSIS tool/process individually during the session. Their experience and feedback was phenomenal and we hope that they would be able to practise it even when we facilitators are not around.

METHODOLOGY

GLIMPSES FROM THE WORKSHOPS

2) TOOL - SEGMENT INTENDING (SI)

A beautiful tool by Abraham Hicks and taught to the facilitators by Mr. Manoj Lekhi was shared by the students and teachers. The SI process is about being in Gratitude moment to moment, irrespective of whatever good or not so good is happening in our lives.

Through this, they all could release whatever was troubling them or not needed anymore. The small process (hardly takes 60 sec) worked wonders for them and can be integrated by putting alarms after every 90 mins. In case of students not having mobile phones, the SI was suggested to be done after every academic Period.

AND KIDS LOVED IT!

IMPACT ASSESSMENT

The impact of the workshops is understood from our FEEDBACK mechanism. Well-designed survey forms were distributed to the workshop participants (both girls and female teachers) before the workshop. The survey form had questions to be answered before the workshop began. These questions were primarily designed to understand their understanding of Periods, their perception about it, the challenges they face including physical, mental, emotional, accessibility of Sanitary Pads, Hygiene & Sanitation ecosystem in school and homes, etc.

The second part of the survey was a structured feedback to help us understand their overall feedback on our workshop and questions if they had.

LESSONS LEARNED

CHALLENGES ENCOUNTERED

We realized that a little more time is needed to interact with groups. And we need to be connecte with the participants virtually on regular intervals to keep them motivated, be regular with their Asana practise and answering their queries

CHANGES IMPLEMENTED BASED ON LESSONS LEARNED

We are currently working out a Calendar for vistual meetings through Video Conferencing and ZOOM. We will be connecting with the School Authorities to design the calendar based on mutual convenience and availability.

CONCLUSION

RECAP OF KEY POINTS

Menstrual Health & Hygiene Management is a critical phase in a young girl's/ women life. Through a sustained approach of education, awareness, practise of Asanas, and hand holding, a major lasting positive shift can be brought in the lives of the young girls. This will make them healthy, confident and have a better maternal health in the future.

The male teaching staff supported more then we anticipated. In future, they can be included in this journey.

THANK YOU
